

Independently Owned for Over 60 Years

New Braunfels Communications is a rare breed in today's world of conglomerate radio stations. While other radio groups are selling out and merging with large, unapproachable corporations, New Braunfels Communications has remained untouched by the corporate rat race. With two stations that have become staples in their respective listening areas, New Braunfels Communications has become a tradition in the tri-county area. Generations have grown up with the sounds of the KNBT FM and KGNB AM from the best in Americana and Country music to High School football games, disaster relief efforts and community calendars.

The independent spirit that New Braunfels Communications is known for enables it to change and accommodate listeners and clients alike in a way unprecedented by the more common corporate machines. In an effort to better serve and retain clients and consumers, New Braunfels Communications has adopted a style of business that emphasizes communication, flexibility, dedication and customer service. With so many people in the listening area between Austin and San Antonio relying on these stations to provide the best in local entertainment and information, New Braunfels Communications has a terrific responsibility to engage its listeners. It is by taking this responsibility seriously that it has gained a loyal and responsive listenership that simply cannot be duplicated by a cold, out of touch conglomerate. This relationship between listener and station provides clients of New Braunfels Communications the best possible consumer base from which to draw from week after week.

As a client of New Braunfels Communications we ensure that you will be treated with respect, provided with honesty and creativity, and met with unparalleled hard work and dedication as we strive to expose your business to our many loyal listeners.
